

"Iron Fist" Troops Face Exercise Under Live Fire

Tells Of German Town And Family

Editor's Note — Following is the second article written by Bill Joseph of Grayling, who is spending the summer in Germany with a typical German family in a people-to-people exchange program.

Today I begin the third week of my stay in Germany. By now I am well settled with my family, and I am able to tell you something about them and about Treysa.

Living with the Krause family is a typical German family. The father, Hans, is a teacher at a secondary school and the mother, Maria, is a housewife. They are very nice and both of them speak English very well.

I am very reminded of home by the year old Helwig, who speaks English, of course, but I think the language of his mother is universal.

Next to the Krause family, I am living with the family of a school teacher and his wife. He goes to school and his wife is a housewife. They are very nice and both of them speak English very well.

We have a great many things planned for the summer and I hope I will be able to bring you a good picture of German life when I come home. Good-bye for now.

"Glamour-Ama 1963", the first professional revue to be staged in Grayling in many years, will open on the stage of the Grayling High gym this Friday night with the first showing slated for 8 p. m. A second showing is set for 10 p. m. On Saturday there will be three showings of the sparkling revue, 7:30 p. m., 9:30 p. m. and the last show at 11:30 p. m.

Headlining the show will be little Stevie Wonder of Detroit. His current record, "Snapping Fingers, Part Two" is on top of the record parade in both Detroit and Chicago at the present time.

"The Supremes", an all girl vocal group, known for the record of "Buttered Popcorn" will give the audience a thrill as will Detroit's own Connie Van Dyke, girl vocalist.

"The Apollo All Stars" on 8 piece band will give out with a real rocking bounce that will have everyone tapping his feet or snapping his fingers.

Mary Griffin and the Hootenany Folk Singers will bring the newest rage in sound to the people attending. This type of vocalizing is now sweeping the country and is highlighted in most all of the nation's night spots.

Dave Shafer, radio station CKLW's "Jack the Bell Boy" will be master of ceremonies and will fill the bill well. His patter will give the audience many and many a laugh.

As will "Red" Jones, former American League baseball player and umpire who will give those in attendance a look behind the scenes of big league baseball with his sports skill.

At Saturday night's show, Miss Nancy Albosta of Higgins Lake will appear. She is Miss Roscommon and early this year won the title of Miss Michigan Winter Sports 1963 at the Grayling Winter Carnival. Nancy is just home from Muskegon where she took part in the Miss Michigan pageant. The tall blonde lovely was in a four way tie for first place in the bathing suit division.

The show will be an all star revue with exceptionally high class entertainment. Tickets will be available locally prior to the show dates at $1.00 advance or can be purchased at the door at $1.50. The concession stand in the gym will be open under the operation of the school during the five performances.

If the show has success in entertaining the troops, local residents and tourists, two more similar revues will be planned to take place at the midweek points of both the encampments of the Indiana and Ohio National Guards. The revue, although of the most modern and sophisticated character, will be real community-type entertainment, Colonel Carl Rask, promoter of the revue said. Both evenings the gym will be supervised by members of the Michigan Guard's Military Police company in association with local law enforcement officers.

Tickets are now available at any of the following places of business: Olson's, Grayling Mercantile, Baringer's, Hunter's Dairy, Wert's Lone Pine Inn, Wharf's Dinner Bell, Grayling State Bank, Dingman's Tavern, The Pink Lady, and the Crawford County Avalanche.

Little League Parents Notice

Play gets underway this week on the all new Grayling Little League baseball field. This marks a real step forward for the youngsters of the area. The new field has all of the marks of a real baseball diamond complete in every detail.

However, it also marks something else... a lot of hard work and effort by many men. These men have sacrificed to bring this field into being for the area kids. They have given up fishing, work around their own homes and in some cases their own vacation to bring this diamond into being. Many others have donated in the way of material and money.

So far so good. However, there is a distinct possibility of losing the valuable aid and assistance that these men have given. Over one hundred boys in two leagues are being kept off the streets, given a chance to learn baseball, and not jeopardize this by haphazard because your boy isn't playing every-inning-of-every game.

Many of these men have been bawled out over the phone by parents and several are almost at the point of dropping out of the program. Parents, think not only of your Johnny but also of the other 119 or so who do so want to keep playing and have a fine, well-rounded program.

CAMP GRAYLING — Michigan Army National Guardsmen today completed the quarter lap in the two weeks of realistic training here at this famed military reservation. Not only has the training been realistic, but arduous. Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, Commanding General of the state's 46th Infantry Division, inaugurated a mandatory physical fitness program. The initiation of twenty-minute exercise periods came at 5:30 a. m. last Sunday, the first full day at camp.

General Simmons is to criticize the fitness program.

In camp Grayling — and there are 8,500 plus — strip to the waist each morning immediately after reveille and have session with the Army's new 6-X calisthenics.

The 6-X exercise series was introduced recently by the Army to produce the maximum benefit for the most important areas of the human body in a 20-minute period.

"Not only is the Division's calisthenics program in keeping with President Kennedy's views on physical fitness for the civilian populace, but it is of even greater importance to the Guardsmen."

To give the flavor of realism, the artillery shells pass over the position occupied by the Infantry unit. All safety measures have been taken, but there is still a chilling sensation when high explosive projectiles whisper through the air overhead.

And the effectiveness of artillery fire is proven dramatically by the shell bursts not too many hundreds of yards directly in front of the Infantry position.

General Simmons and Regular Army evaluators complimented the 46th Division Guardsmen for their "heads up" performance on the training field despite the fact that most units were reorganized only four months ago and are still getting used to their new type of assignment and duties.

Half of the Division went into pup-tent bivouacs last Monday for their mandatory four nights in the field. The balance of the divisional units will go into the field next Monday. Again, every possible moment is utilized toward the Guards training objective, such as gas attack drill, dispersion, camouflage, field sanitation, etc. to gain maximum training experience under combat conditions.

Up to one-third of the required 88 hours of training during the 15 days at camp are being conducted during hours of darkness.

There is no "inclement weather" schedule — when it rains, the scheduled training goes right on. The commanders of the "Iron Fist" division have taken the position that there is no such thing as inclement weather in combat, and there should be none in training.

The only relaxing of the rigorous training will be Saturday when Governor George Romney visits the camp to review the troops, visit with them personally, attend the Governor's Ball Saturday night and speak at the traditional Memorial Service on Sunday morning.

Thousands of parents, wives, children, relatives and friends also will flock into Camp Grayling on the mid-weekend to give the camp a fiesta air. Most of the Guardsmen will be free a major portion of the period from noon Saturday until taps Sunday night.

Next Monday morning at the crack of dawn, the troops will be back on schedule in the field-rain or shine.

Shoe Shine Boys Note!

The young lads of Grayling who are carrying on the time honored summertime job of shoe shining for the troops of the Guard will be allowed on the grounds of Camp Grayling on weekends this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

However, it is the decision of the military that the shoe shiners are off-limits to the shoe shiners during the week while the troops are in the field training.

ARLENE M. SMITH DAVID E. WELCH MARRY

Dr. W. Wilbert Welch performed the ceremony which united Miss Arlene Mae Smith and his son David Evans Welch in marriage on Saturday afternoon, June 15, at Berean Baptist Church, Grand Rapids.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Smith of 304 State St., Grayling and Dr. and Mrs. W. Wilbert Welch of Knapp St., Grand Rapids.

The bride selected a floor length gown in silk organza over taffeta with a chapel sweep train. The fitted bodice was accented by a scoop neckline with Viennese lace appliques and short sleeves softly shirred. A pearl beaded crown secured her veil of illusion and she carried a white-Bible adorned with white sweetheart roses.

Miss Jean M. Smith was her sister's honor attendant. She was attired in a azure blue taffeta frock designed with a scoop neckline. A tatra of rhinestones and a basket bouquet of blue and white carnations and roses completed her ensemble. Wearing identical costumes and carrying similar flowers were the bridesmaids, Miss Rebecca Schwan of Muskegon and Miss Gail Stillman of Kalamazoo, both former roommates of the bride.

Melodie Myers, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Robert Lansing of Holland assisted as best man. Ushers were Robert Welch, brother of the bridegroom, and Marvin Hoepfinger of Mishawaka, Indiana.

Rev. Gerrit Schut, pastor of Berean Baptist Church, and Mrs. Schut were master and mistress of ceremonies at the reception which was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors.

Following a northern Michigan wedding trip the couple will live at 955 Grandville Avenue, Grand Rapids.

Out-of-town guests were from Grayling, Cass City, Bay City, Lansing, Owosso, Detroit, Muskegon, Holland, Greenville, Belding, Jenison, Flint, Coopersville, Lakeview and Big Rapids.

Threat To Free Trade . . .

In the past ten years the world has grown smaller with the evolution of transportation and communications. Simultaneously, the continuing tension between an ever stronger East and West has created the urgent need for cooperation between Western nations on an economic as well as a military level. The most remarkable development resulting from this atmosphere has been the growth of the idea for a kind of United States of Europe and the evolution of the European Common Market. It is an amazing paradox that the ancient art of agriculture may put sand in these wheels of progress.

An article entitled "It's an International Farm Mess Now" appearing in the May issue of Fortune magazine observes that agriculture is now disrupting relations among the world's most advanced nations. The Fortune article states: "Just when the prospects for European integration, Atlantic economic partnership, and expanding free trade seemed at their brightest, they have been dimmed by a series of disputes over commerce in farm products."

Three road blocks have developed: 1. Last January DeGaulle found the excuse and the opportunity to veto Britain's entry into the Common Market when negotiations were deadlocked over differences in agricultural policy. 2. The whole experiment in European unity may be in danger through the inability of participating countries to draft agricultural policy. 3. The program undertaken by the Kennedy Administration to negotiate free trade through reciprocal tariff reduction may be torpedoed if U. S. farm exports to Europe, roughly a third of total American shipments across the Atlantic, are allowed to become the focal point of tariff bargaining that will begin next year under the terms of the Trade Expansion Act.

Concerning this possibility, the Fortune article comments that the cause of free trade could be "set back for years. Indeed some recent administration statements sound like a threat to bring down the whole structure of international trade in an effort to save a few hundred million dollars worth of U. S. farm exports."

Agricultural populations form a small and decreasing percentage of the total population of highly industrialized Western nations. Yet there exists unanimous political concern with insulating farmers from the basically free market systems on which their economies are otherwise founded. It is pointed out that "Although few European politicians would dare advocate scrapping the system of supporting farm prices, there is widespread recognition that this subsidization of the highest cost, least efficient farmers is a drag on the economy."

Since the war the governments of Common Market countries have made real efforts to decrease the number of small inefficient farming operations by introducing machinery to the farms and educating farm children so that they would be qualified to move to the cities and seek employment. As Fortune observers "A good dose of free competition would, of course, accomplish the same aim more quickly and effectively."

Against this background, our Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, has said that under the provisions of the Trade Expansion Act, the President is directed "to take all appropriate and feasible steps to eliminate unjustifiable import restrictions . . . against the U. S. agricultural products. Such steps may include retaliatory action, if necessary, against imports from the country in question . . ."

Destroying the chance to implement a great upsurge in industrial exports in order to save $300 million worth of farm exports hardly seems the correct way to straighten out our deficit balance of payments problem, or encourage cooperation among the Western nations.

Fortune concludes that in any case "the U. S. is in a poor position to preach to Europeans about agriculture. In all the sins of farm protectionism, we have shown the way to others . . . The alarm in Washington over growing European protectionism might have a more convincing ring if we were ready to do something about restoring agriculture to the free market."

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVANCE OF 23 YEARS AGO

July 11, 1940

The Grayling Merchants baseball team split two games last week, winning from the traveling colored House of David team of Grand Rapids at the local park Independence Day, 22-6, and losing a Northern Michigan League game to the Mackinaw City Indians at Mackinaw City Sunday by one run, 8-7.

The annual school meeting was held Monday night and A. J. Joseph, whose term expired at this time, notified friends that he did not choose to be re-elected. Therefore Dr. C. G. Clippert was elected to fill the position for the next three years. Members of the board spoke highly of Mr. Joseph's services and regretted having him drop out.

With the resignation of Hilton Axford, flying instructor of the local unit Michigan Flyers Inc., the organization is about to disband and will close its books on July 31. Mr. Axford had been the instructor of the club from the time it was formed, some 15 months ago and during that time he taught 37 local young people how to fly a plane. Most of these have solo permits and the majority of them are planning and preparing to take examinations for private pilot rating. Mr. Axford resigned to accept a similar position with a private flying school in Lansing.

Mack Patterson, Paul Russell and Sherman Sergel, three boys from Chicago, undertook a canoe trip down the Portage Creek recently. Putting in at the encampment side of Lake Margrethe they had a thrilling trip across the lake in a heavily loaded canoe but came to disaster when they dragged their canoe over brush and trees in the creek until they ripped the canvas and lost the keel from the bottom and tipped their bedding and supplies into the creek and slept in the swamp in wet blankets all night. Each one stood watch one hour at a time to be on the lookout for bears. When morning came they found an old trail and followed that until they came out to the reserve line but went the wrong way to find anyone as they went over the Portage Creek bridge and farther into the wilderness. Getting discouraged they retraced their steps and after a time found an old railroad grade and hearing the sound of men working on Otto Peterson's cottage and following a car track they landed at Camp Arrowhead at noon.

Mr. Simon Silvriss, who is spending some time in Grayling, had as her guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Edna LaFraser of Cheboygan, parents-in-law of her son Ted, instructor of the club from the time it was formed, some 15 months ago and during that time he taught 37 local young people how to fly a plane. Most of these have solo permits and the majority of them are planning and preparing to take examinations for private pilot rating. Mr. Axford resigned to accept a similar position with a private flying school in Lansing.

Guests over Independence Day weekend of Mrs. H. A. Bauman and Miss Margrethe Bauman at Lake Margrethe were Mrs. Helen Routier, son Ralph and Miss Peggy Thomas of Detroit and Miss Muriel Briggs and Russel Bradley of Ann Arbor.

Arthur Karpus of Lansing stopped in Grayling during the week and called on friends.

Mrs. Edna McEvers is enjoying a visit from her granddaughter, Marjorie Towns of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crowe of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn F. Penrod Monday.

Paul Jr. and Alce Dreher of Detroit are visiting at the home of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McClain.

Capt. and Mrs. O. T. Shulite and Mr. and Mrs. Walker of Detroit are spending this week at Uncle Tom's cabins on the AuSable.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Ward and son of Hazel Park spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley LaGrow and daughters of Detroit are guests of Mrs. LaGrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Burrows, arriving last week in time for the Fourth.

Carl Tahvonen has accepted a position at the Hoppel Mfg. Co. near Toledo to assist in the making of skis. It is believed that the demand for skis will be heavy this winter, and a New York firm has already offered to take all the plant can manufacture. Mr. Tahvonen is a carpenter by trade and as a native of Finland knows much about the manufacture of skis.

Elwood Robarge has moved his family into the house recently vacated by Clifford Malloy.

Sam Gust has moved his family into the Taylor home recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hunter, who have accepted the position of caretakers of the AuSable Trout and Game Club and have moved there.

Miss Betty Sparkes of Davenport, Iowa, is visiting Miss Jane Milnes for several days.

Mrs. Matilda Bishop of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Foley.

Gertrude Foley has accepted a government position in the Panama Canal Zone. After a brief visit in Grayling she will sail from New York City on the S. S. Cristobal to take up her new work.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Koepfer of Detroit spent the weekend visiting at the cottage of the latter's aunt, Miss Jane Inley.

Miss Dorothy Kuster, recreational leader from Vanderbilt, called at the Frank Ingerson home while in the city Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stirling of Venice, Calif., left here Saturday after spending a short time visiting the Fred Welsh family. The members of the Just 11s Club enjoyed a picnic at McIntyre's Landing Monday evening, later taking in the show.

Mrs. Frieda Lemartz, of Sigbee has sold her fine farm to some Detroit people who have already taken possession.

Miss Doris LaGrow of the Grayling Mercantile Co. store left Monday on a ten days' vacation which she expects to spend in Detroit and some Canadian points.

The young ladies of the Junior Aid society gave a party at the home of their president, Miss Mabelle Kitzbeck Friday evening. They invited in a number of friends and the party numbered twenty. Unique contests were a pleasant pastime. Honors were taken by Miss Bessie Brown, for the best stunt, Donald Lewis receiving consolation. Elaine Fehr took his honors for the cake contest and Carl Doroh, consolation made Saturday when the business section was most crowded. The A second descent upon London by a squadron of airplanes was (Continued on Page 6)

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

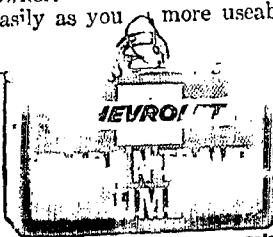

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Water Resources Review
Statement of Conditions for the Month of June 1963 from the Lansing, Michigan office.
MICHIGAN. Ground-water levels in most wells declined seasonally. Record low levels continued in the southeastern part of the State for the 11th consecutive month. Elsewhere stages were below average except in the north-central and southeast part of the Lower Peninsula.
The key wells used for this review are located in areas of little or no pumping effect and reflect changes in aquifer storage primarily in response to natural conditions. Records of ground-water levels that reflect natural climatic conditions serve as a basis for comparison with records of levels that are affected by pumping withdrawals.
